

Publications by Mr. Terence Vel

Journal Articles:

- Hill, M. J., Holm, K., Vel, T., & Shah, N. J. (2003). Impact of the introduced yellow crazy ant Anoplolepis gracilipes on Bird Island, Seychelles. Biodiversity and Conservation, 12, 1969–1984.
- Bambini, L., Blyth, A., Bradford, T., Bristol, R., Burthe, S., Craig, L., Downs, N., Laing, S., Marshall-Ball, L., McGowan, D., Vel, T., & Racey, P. (2003). Another Seychelles endemic close to extinction: the emballonurid bat Coleura seychellensis. African Journal of Ecology, 41, 179–186.
- Hazell, S. P., Vel, T., & Fellowes, M. D. E. (2007). The role of exotic plants in the invasion of Seychelles by the polyphagous insect Aleurodicus dispersus: a phylogenetically controlled analysis. Biological Invasions, Springer.
- Etongo, D., Vel, T., & Mendez, J. (2023). Community perceptions and attitudes towards managing protected areas in Seychelles with Morne Seychellois National Park as a case study. World Development Sustainability.

Book Chapters / Monographs / Submitted Manuscripts:

- Currie, D., Hill, M. J., Vel, T., & Franchette, R. (2002). Diet of the critically endangered Seychelles Scops Owl Otus insularis: Pellet and video evidence. Monograph Series II – The Ecology of the Seychelles Scops Owl. Nature Seychelles.
- Currie, D. (Ed.), with contributions from Vel, T. (2002). The Ecology of the Seychelles (Bare-legged) Scops Owl: Consequences for Conservation and Management. Nature Seychelles.

Atoll Research Bulletin – Biodiversity Surveys:

- Hill, M. J., Vel, T., Holm, K., Parr, S. J., & Shah, J. (2002). Biodiversity Surveys and Conservation Potential of Inner Seychelles Islands/Bird Island. Atoll Research Bulletin No. 495, Smithsonian Institution.

Technical and Consultancy Reports:

- Senterre, B., Henriette, E., Chong-Seng, L., Beaver, K., Mougat, J., Vel, T., & Gerlach, J. (2011). Seychelles Key Biodiversity Areas – Output 1: List of species of special concern. Ministry of Environment – UNDP-GEF.
- Etongo, D., D’offay, K., Vel, T., Murugaiyan, P., & Henriette, E. Stocktake and Lessons Learnt from the Ecosystem-Based Adaptation to Climate Change Project in Seychelles (Technical Review).