Invitation to Participate in the University Self-Assessment Exercise for Institutional Re-Accreditation

Dear Partners and Stakeholders,

As part of our ongoing commitment to academic excellence and institutional quality, the University has officially commenced its comprehensive self-assessment exercise in preparation for institutional re-accreditation by the Seychelles Qualifications Authority (SQA).

As a valued partner of our institution, your perspective is vital to our growth, relevance and continuous improvement. This review process is being coordinated by the Self-Evaluation Team (SET) to assess our institutional performance and alignment with national and international standards.

To ensure that our evaluation is comprehensive and informed by real-world perspectives, we would be deeply grateful for your support and participation. Over the coming weeks, you may be invited to:

- Share your feedback through targeted surveys or questionnaires regarding our collaborative initiatives and graduate preparedness.

- Participate in stakeholder interviews or discussions with the evaluation team to provide insights into our partnership and shared outcomes.

Your insights, professional feedback and external perspective are invaluable to the success of this exercise and to shaping the future direction of our University.

Thank you in advance for your continued partnership, support and contribution to our academic community.
